BANDIT KLING HAS AN INFERIORITY COMPLEX

Most Spectacular Crime of His Career Was Hawley Bank Robbery

HAS SEVERAL ALIASES

This is the final article in an International News Service series on the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Criminals" of 1951. Today's story deals with Thomas Kling, "wise guy" bank robber and lifelong criminal.

By James Lee

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 28—(INS)—

The most spectacular crime in the violent career of Thomas "Scup" Kling was a $40,000 bank robbery at Hawley, Pa. But that was only one chapter in a sordid personal history of banditry, assault, escape and, perhaps, murder.

The complete registration by districts is as follows with borough and township sub-divisions given as one total:

ISSUES CALL FOR "HAM" OPERATORS

Operators With Their Own Stations Asked To Form For Emergency

FOR DEFENSE WORK

Brig. Gen. Wilson H. Stephenson, USA Ret., Chief of Bucks County Auxiliary Police and Warden Service, today issued a call for volunteer amateur radio operators with their own stations and equipment to form an emergency police network under civil defense.

Organized units of the APWS with special police powers in event of emergency are operating in Bristol, Quakertown, Morrisville, Edinboro, New Hope, Bedminster and other places. River patrol units with yachts, motorboats, and airplanes are based in Bristol and Washington Crossing.

"The 'ham' operators we are asking for will be used solely for Civil Defense police communications independent of, and in no way conflicting with the present C. D. communication system," General Stephenson told Civil Defense directors at a council gathering. "We hope for a radio-telephone coverage network that will give us instantaneous contact with all vital points in the County and adjacent areas."

All volunteers for the radio and other missions open in this police service are requested to write to the Adjutant, Auxiliary Police Services, New Hope.

Goodly Portion of Bristol Twp. "Fogged"

The sections of the township covered today were: Bristol Terraces I and II, area along Route 13, Croydon, Croydon Manor, and a small part of North Radcliffe street. On Saturday the spraying will be completed in the township on the war on the mosquito.

CEILING ON TAXES

The latent power of the people in a Republic such as ours always is greater than it seems to be.

Every once in a while a situation arises where the government seems to be all-powerful, and the people unable to do anything about it. But if the will for self-government is there, it often develops that while the mass of humanity is wringing its hands and fretting over its inadequacy, an energetic minority goes out and finds something to do about it.

That is what is happening today with regard to runaway Federal taxes. We have been brought to the brink of financial disaster and of political convulsions leading to socialism by reason of the inability of the people, through their own branch of the government, which is Congress, to restrain the spending, taxing and borrowing of the executive branch of government.

But now a group of citizens known as the American Taxpayers Association has found a different approach to the matter, and has stirred up the whole country in a grass-roots drive to impose ceilings on Federal taxation—and hence, on spending and borrowing.

What the American Taxpayers Association is working for is the enactment of a Constitutional amendment which would limit income taxes, and levies on inheritances and gifts, to 25 per cent.

Let anyone jump to the conclusion that this is merely a stunt, not to be taken seriously, it should be added immediately that no fewer than 21 state legislatures already have approved the calling of a constitutional convention to consider the tax limitation, and therefore only eleven more are needed to provide the thirty-two states which would make such a convention mandatory.

Once the amendment is approved by the constitutional convention, it will have to be approved by three-fourths of the states, or thirty-six.

It is sometimes forgotten that this method of seeking constitutional amendments exists. The more customary manner is for Congress to vote the amendment, which is then submitted to the states. This is the way the limitation on presidential service to two full terms was added to the constitution within the past year.

But the congressional instigation of amendments breaks down when, as happens at present, the amendment is one not

THIS IS CIVIL DEFENSE

As a service to civil defense efforts in Bucks County The Courier presents a series of articles on the latest federal booklet, "This Is Civil Defense."

Article 1

What are the biggest civil defense problems? Public education, training and organization.

We need quick civil defense training for some 15,000,000 Americans, and intensive education in self-protection for 135,000,000 more. Most staggering problem is the size of the training and organization jobs to be done.

Try to picture the number of trained workers that would be needed to handle an attack situation. As an example, a single first aid station should consist of almost 200 workers. Each station could handle about 600 wounded people in 24 hours.

START SHIPMENT OF EQUIPMENT

Westinghouse To Supply Equipment For Fairless Steel Works

WILL INCLUDE MOTORS

PITTSBURGH, June 28—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation already has begun shipment of electrical equipment valued at many millions of dollars to the new Fairless Works of the United States Steel Company, it was reported today.

J. K. Hodnette, vice president in charge of industrial products for Westinghouse, disclosed that the order is one of the largest single orders ever placed by a steel mill for electrical equipment.

The ultra-modern mill, located at Morrisville, Pa., will produce an estimated 1,800,000 tons annually of ingots which will be converted into sheet steel, seamless tube, steel bars, and other products when it goes into operation.

"In addition to motors, control and regulating equipment, generators and switchgear, the order provides for the largest air-cleaning and ventilating system in the industry," Mr. Hodnette said. "Special fans and precipitator air cleaners will move and clean more than three and one-half million cubic feet of air per minute."

Also included in the multi-million

Residents Invited To Visit "New" Store Here

Announcement is made by Leon Plavin, owner of Auto Boys, that his "new" store is about completed and he invites the people of the Bristol shopping area to stop in and look it over.

One of them, Sam Popkin of the Penn Jersey Auto Stores, visited the store last Friday and in his discussion with Mr. Plavin, remarked that he doesn't believe that there are more than six stores in the country as nice as this store."

One week before Mr. Popkin's visit, the Pep Boys owners, Moe Strauss and Manny Rosenfeld, visited Auto Boys store and said they were overwhelmed with the kind of store they found here in Bristol.

THE WAR

By Howard Handleman

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, June 28—(INS)—Lt. Gen.

James A. Van Fleet said today an increasing Chinese Communist buildup in Korea is for "future effort" but that the Chinese are in no condition at present to launch a major offensive.

The Eighth Army commander's statement came as Red troops in central Korea broke off a series of small but sharp probing attacks which failed to dent United Nations lines.

Eighth Army officers replied with an unvarying "no comment" to questions about a series of rumors sweeping the war theater. These rumors included a growing one that North Koreans had already proposed a meeting with General Ridgway. (Headquarters Intelligence sources in Tokyo flatly denied that such a proposal had been broadcast.)

International News Service war correspondent Don Dixon reported from the battlefield that information reaching UN forces indicated that Communist officers have told their troops that the Allies rejected Jacob Malik's cease fire proposal.

Dixon said in a heavily censored dispatch:

"According to reliable informants, the Communist leaders told their troops about the Malik offer two days ago and then reported that the United Nations had already rejected the offer and would go on fighting."

Van Fleet told newsmen he had "no comment" about the possibility of a Korean cease fire, declaring:

Wm. J. Levitt Recommends "For Sale" Credit Plan As The Solution

SUGGESTS A NEW LAW

William J. Levitt has obtained options on a number of farms in Bristol and Falls townships.

(Special to Courier)

NEW YORK, June 28—Predicting a defense housing crisis that will threaten war production, William J. Levitt, the nation's leading home builder, today made public a study of factors snarling Congressional action on a workable defense housing law.

The study warned that Congressional efforts to date have been stalemated unnecessarily on the Public Housing Issue. It recommended that this issue be sidestepped by framing a law to allow private industry to build defense area homes for sale on liberal credit terms.

Mr. Levitt called for rejection of the theory that defense housing should be built and held on a for-profit basis. By restoring liberal credit aids, limited to defense areas only, private builders will break the housing bottleneck by producing

A DIFFERENT VACATION

Vacation season is here again, and millions of Americans are planning to get away from it all at some time during the summer months. Plans are being discussed, destinations chosen, dates fixed. Already highways are crowded with tourists' cars, as a vacation-happy people rush here and there in search of change and relaxation. Many will find change, too few relaxation.

Vacation travel can become strenuous unless there is a display of common sense on the part of those who indulge in it. Whether you go to mountain, lake or seashore let leisurely travel be the first rule. Select an objective which fits well into your vacation period.

Frequently it is possible to find an ideal spot within a short distance of the old homestead. Those who return home to brag about how far and how fast they traveled will get little rest and relaxation from their trip.

If you are the man of the house, vacation plans will be made largely for your benefit. You've been working hard, and you must have a rest. Perhaps fishing is your first interest, in which case you drag the family off to some remote spot where the children are bored and the good wife still has to cook.

Why not plan a vacation for the family this year. Take mother out of the kitchen for a week or two. She needs a rest more than you need to go fishing.

PATIENCE AT AN END

It is not surprising that Marri-ner S. Eccles has now resigned as a member of the Federal Reserve Board. The mystery is why he didn't take this step long ago.

For years Eccles has been engaged in a running battle with the administration over financial policies and he never has been at pains to keep that fact from the public.
He has even written a book in which he takes the President and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to task for a political approach to some of the country's banking problems.

Significant of the extent of the fight between Mr. Truman and Mr. Eccles is the President's letter accepting the resignation. It was coldly polite and, contrary to custom, expressed no regret whatever over the end of 17 years' excellent service to the government.

Indeed this was not the first time that Eccles was the victim of cavalier treatment at the President's hands. During the 1948 political campaign Mr. Truman denoted him, without explanation, from his position as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board —a post he had held for 12 years.
Mr. Eccles, in his book just published, asserts he was denoted as the price demanded for supporting the President by the nation's large-est chain banking system.

A more sensitive and less patient person would have regarded that a good time to have retired.

A political prediction that isn't forgotten by the time it doesn't happen is rare.

WOMEN'S SUITS

NEW YORK — (INS) — The National Wool Bureau has made a survey to find out important facts on the subject of women's suits.
The results showed that to American women, the suit (whether it's tailored or dressy) is growing in fashion importance. Three thousand women, 18 years of age and over, were queried in the survey.
Judging from their answers, 64 per cent of all the women in America own suits—which figures to 33 and one-half million customers for suit makers.

red by the President, and when, as is also the case just now, associates have control of congressional machinery. They only would not permit such an amendment to be voted by gress.

Hence the importance of the present alternative approach, which congress is not consulted and has no means of heading the amendment.

Details on the status of the amendment are interesting. In tion to the twenty-one states on record as favoring the con- tion, three other states voted approval and then later took their action. In seven other states one house already has roved the convention call. Seventeen states have taken on. Most recent to vote approval was Utah, on June 15.

On one point there seems to be no room for dispute—if such mendment became law, it would provide the greatest incen- for private initiative known for two generations. Rising s, and the lack of a ceiling on them, has depressed venture tal almost to the vanishing point. With risk so great and ible earnings so small, it is no wonder that more and more he investment and operating capital has had to come from ment.

The radicals, progressives and left-wingers will promptly ge that this change would represent a return to what they "laissez-faire," a French term which means literally "let it pen," and is the equivalent of our expression "anything goes."

Opponents of the profit system see in the new proposal death of their plans to socialize American economy. More- y, the Pendergast exponents of high spending and easy money Washington picture with alarm the possibility of the golden d which has been flowing through their fingers being shut at the source.

In a broader view, there seems little room for doubt that as a great defect in the American constitution when it failed to ose a ceiling on government borrowing, taxing and spending, e governments have constitutional limits on their debts, but Federal government does not. The result is that whatever e gets control of the machinery of the national government recklessly exploit the resources of the American people, even he point of undermining our economic stability—something h is in the process of happening right now.

Chief Justice John Marshall said, a century and a half ago, "the power to tax is the power to destroy," a slogan which been adopted by the American Taxpayers Association. Di- y in line was the famous warning delivered long ago by the ent historian Macauley, to the effect that the weakness in American Republic is the possibility of greedy minority fac- s voting themselves recklessly large benefits at the expense e general public, until the country is bankrupted.

The new drive for a ceiling on Federal taxes may be hailed he first substantial movement to remedy a major defect in orm of government which has existed since it was founded, ow threatens our existence.

Start Shipment Of Equipment

dollar order are outdoor sub-sta- tions, with a transformer capacity exceeding 300,000 kilovolt-amperes, the Westinghouse executive said.

"A double armature twin drive totaling 12,000 horsepower will be used for the main drive of the 45- inch slabbing mill, a 4,000 horse- power motor will be used for the edging rolls," he continued. "A motor-generator set with a 12,500 kilowatt capacity will provide the current for the combined drives."

Mr. Hodnette pointed out that the motor-generator set will be equipped with a 65-ton flywheel— capable of storing energy equivalent to 215,000 horsepower seconds— to absorb the strain on the electri- cal system when huge billets enter the rolls of the mill.

Westinghouse also will supply both the adjustable and constant voltage controls for this slabbing mill, and auxiliary motors totalling 5,500 horsepower.

Two 4,000 horsepower motors, with a 7,500 kilowatt motor-genera- tor set, will furnish power for the main drive of the 40-inch blooming mill, and a 3,600 horsepower motor will power the main drive of the 80-inch skin-pass mill.

Five 5,950 horsepower motors and one 4,000 horsepower motor will be supplied for the finishing end of the hot strip mill. These motors will derive their power from igni- tron rectifiers—devices for convert- ing alternating current into direct current—which have an output of 24,000 kilowatts.

Other equipment covered by the order consists of motors and con- trols for the plant's 54-inch clean- ing line, where oil film is removed from the steel; metal-clad switch- gear and supervisory control equip- ment for the power house; switch- gear for the bar and billet mill; crane motors; and traction motors for the ore bridge and blast furnace.

The final shipment of the order is expected to leave the East Pitts- burgh plant of Westinghouse in the spring of 1952. Mr. Hodnette said for the Hawley robbery. His pre- vious "raps" included armed hold- ups, blackjacking a policeman, and escape from confinement.

The FBI says it particularly wants to nab Kling because he has a violently anti-social attitude and has demonstrated that he is "dan- gerous and vicious."

Kling's tattoos are his chief identifying characteristics. They include:

An eagle and sailing ship on his chest; spread eagle with the in- scription "Union & Liberty" on the right arm; also, all on the right arm, a horseshoe with a head in the center, the words "Good Luck," an Indian head, a sailor, the U. S. flag, the initials "T. K." and the date "1919."

On the left arm, there's a wom- an's head in a question mark, a Red Cross nurse, the words "Rose of No Man's Land," clasped hands, a heart with a man's head and a woman's head, and the date "1923."

His aliases—Anthony Kling, Jo- seph T. Kling, Tony Kling, Thomas Solane, Thomas Smith, Arthur Walsh, and "Scup."

The FBI says Kling gives the impression of being a "wise guy" and that he participates in crime because of a desire for easy money and adventure.

Description: Age, 43; height, five feet, five and one-half inches; weight, 124 pounds; hair, brown; eyes, blue; complexion, fair; scar on palm of right hand, abdominal operation scar.

Warning: Kling is almost cer- tainly armed and is believed will- ing to shoot to kill.

Only 2 of 7 New Teachers To Remain

Gottsegan who is joining her husband in another state, Theodore Halkias succeeds Mrs. Margaret Irvin.

It is also announced that Mrs. Fiorella will move from grade one at Langhorne Manor school to the second grade at Friends school, replacing Mrs. Bernstein, who wants to teach nearer her home. In addition the board has elected the following new teachers: Robert R. Hook for 8th grade at Feasterville; Miss Dorothy Rhodes for a 4th grade at Feasterville; Miss Elizabeth Sterner will teach a fourth grade possibly in Hulmeville; Miss Shirley Grow will teach a fifth grade possibly in Hulmeville; Miss Janice Bachman will replace Miss Caroline Fox who will leave to be married; Miss Carolyn Campbell will replace Mrs. Fiorella at the Manor School; Miss Betty Hoffman will replace Mrs. Mladjen in the kindergarten. There have been elected 12 new elementary teachers and there is still one position to fill—that of an overflow first grade at Feasterville. Only Pennell, Parkland and Siles schools will have no new staff members next year.

Reading readiness tests were given throughout the first grades this year. All 4th grade children in the area were given the California test of mental maturity. Near the close of the year all children beginning with the 3rd through the 8th grades were given the Stanford achievement tests. Teachers are learning how to better use the results of these tests, it is claimed. "These results could give teachers better insight into the child's ability to achieve and a better understanding of his weaknesses and strengths in achieving skills and knowledges. It may help the teacher to see her own strengths and weaknesses in teaching," Miss Baxter reports.

Dr. Fedder has tested cases which are particularly difficult. The Wood School has given help in testing particular children. The reports on the test they give are very full and provide a better understanding of the child's difficulties and help teachers to better see how to assist the child.

DOYLESTOWN MAY OKAY PRE-FAB. HOUSES

Subject To Be Given Serious Consideration Before
Special Meeting

MAY ANNEX LAND

DOYLESTOWN, June 28 — Borough council is debating whether or not they will favor the building of pre-fab houses in this area and adjust the building code to the extent that pre-fab houses can pass here.

Pre-fabricated houses occupied a good portion of the discussion, when a representative of National Homes Corporation was introduced by F. Millard Detweiler, of the Doylestown Building Company.

At last month's meeting a request was made to Council to consider annexation to the borough of a portion of the land owned by Arlington F. Myers (the former Chapman farm), and also a request that the owners be allowed to erect pre-fab houses on a portion of the land.

Council was informed by Mr. Myers that he had decided to submit to the borough — at their request all the land that he owns in that area, for annexation, if they desire to do so, and not a small portion as first suggested.

Council must first decide if they favor annexation of the tract for the purpose of erecting pre-fab homes.

Councilman Charles Miller, chairman of the building and zoning committee reported that his committee had consulted an architect, and that the architect and all the committee members were opposed to pre-fab homes in Doylestown.

"After listening to the representative, however, I do not know now whether I'm in favor or against pre-fabs," Miller commented.

President G. Thawley Hayman said that he didn't think that Council members should pass on how the houses will look, but that they should require the type home that will stand up and give the buyer good value. The style is for the buyer to decide upon, he said.

Councilman C. Eldon Clemens said that, in his opinion, pre-fab housing is nothing more than temporary housing, unless a few changes are made in the construction of the outside of the house.

The committee was authorized to continue for another two weeks, their investigation into the pre-fab housing and to visit the Paoli project in the meantime. A special meeting will then be called by President Hayman, to take action one way or another.

Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Politics and Crises

Washington, June 28.

A very wise old man who a good many years ago amassed a great deal of money largely through his ability to judge what was going to happen in this country a little bit better than most, recently said: "This is the first time in my life I have not been able to see at least a little way ahead."

That is true today of all of us not only in finance but in government, in politics, in journalism and in everything else. No one knows. Only the fools are complacent about the future. Only the stupid are certain about what lies ahead. The state of the world is such that chaos threatens and civilization, itself, is imperiled. This we are told day in and day out by the so-called international experts and economic authorities. As of now these are extremely gloomy, indeed. The best they envisage for the United States is a badly dislocated economy and a tax-burdened people whose lives will never again be serene and secure. The worst, of course, is an inevitable general war with Russia, out of which we shall emerge militarily victorious but so crippled that for generations order will not be restored in a ruined world. And they may be right.

The more optimistic concede that the present crisis is undoubtedly the gravest we have ever faced. But, they point out, the 175 years of our existence have been marked by a long series of acute crises, some of which have "threatened our national existence." Yet, somehow, we have survived all these crises, even grown stronger and greater. Whether this is because of the inherent strength and intelligence of the American people or because in the past Providence has always been on our side is debatable—but the fact of survival obviously is not. These optimistic experts contend we will survive this, our worst crisis, for the same reasons we have survived the others—and they may be right.

At any rate, there can be no argument about the reality and gravity of the crisis. That being the case, it does seem clear that the one thing we cannot now afford is "politics as usual." The situation surely calls not only for nonpartisanship in the governmental machine but for the presence in Washington as advisers and administrators of the best and strongest men in the country. No one will contend that we have either of these. On the contrary, there has rarely been a time when politics and partisanship so deeply saturated the government.

It is shown in every vote in the Senate and House and in the various congressional committee investigations and reports. No pretense of unity is made. The reports are all partisan. When a Republican votes with the Democratic majority you find that that is his normal political trend. The garrulous Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, is an example. When a Democrat votes with the Republican minority, he is easily identified as an anti-Truman, anti-New Deal-Fair Deal Democrat. Literally, Congress teems with presidential and vice-presidential aspirants, to say nothing of the members who expect to be candidates for re-election next year. Their votes are almost invariably cast with a view to the effect upon themselves. It is impossible to legislate effectively under such conditions.

On the executive side the political saturation is just as clear and fully as deep. The man who has readiest access to the president, who sees him more often than any cabinet member and with whom he is more at ease, still is Chairman William M. Boyle of the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Boyle's two subjects are politics and patronage. These he discusses every week—several times—with Mr. Truman, whose favorite subjects they also are. They both enjoy it. Their enjoyment is reflected all the way down the line of the great federal machine. Mr. Truman and Mr. Boyle are primarily concerned in blaming the Republicans for all administration sins. The primary concern of the Republicans is to smear the Truman administration. Both have their eyes firmly fixed on the 1952 campaign. Each distrusts (and with reason) the other.

It is this sort of atmosphere that increases the power of the pressure groups—particularly the labor and farmer groups. Both Mr. Truman and the Republican leaders are obviously unwilling to insist upon the same sort of sacrifice from them as is required of the rest of us. This flinching makes false and hypocritical the anti-inflation pronouncements on both sides. Also, this atmosphere is the chief reason Mr. Truman has so few first-class men either in the White House circle or in the defense organization. It is why, in this our gravest crisis, we are in the hands of confused and feeble mediocrities. It is a deplorable and a dangerous state of affairs. The only remedy is a thing which at the moment we completely lack—to wit, an aroused and aggressive public opinion which will force an abandonment of politics, real reduction in all nonessential expenditures and the putting of the national interests—on both sides—ahead of all else.

THREE BILLS TO COMPETE ON OVAL AT PENNDEL TRACK

PENNDEL, June 28—Bill Judge, Bill Pultz, and Bill Crozier, all of Philadelphia, will have one object in common tomorrow night on the short track at Langhorne Speedway. All three Bills from Philly will be seeking to crash the victory column for the first time of the season on the Langhorne quarter-of-a-mile oval, newly constructed this season for sportsmen stock car racing.

Two Paterson flashes, Roscoe Hough and Ronnie Kohler, will also be bidding for their first win. In events staged to date Hough and Kohler have won heats and semifinals but have yet to take the checkered flag in a main event. Maybe Friday's Penn-Jersey sprint championship will be the springboard for one of the Paterson speedsters.

Newt Reinert, of Pottstown, Pa., last season's point scoring champion, is another who is finding it difficult to break the ice.

Friday night's program will start at 8.30 o'clock under the Langhorne lights.
